Waveland zoning map questioned

Little Theatre hospitality names given

Hospitality committee for the four day run of the Little Theatre play, The Diary of Anne Frank, was announced by Gerald Gex, house committee chairman on Tuesday.

Opening night, Wednesday, Sept. 1, Mr. and Mrs. Michael D. Haas and Mr. and Mrs. William P. Hilliker will welcome theatergoers while Sharon McKenna and Dottie Rausch will act as usherettes. Thursday, Sept. 2, hosts will be Mr. and Mrs. W. Ray Gordon and Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald, with Marsha Griffin and Martha Lynch as usherettes. The next

Which is the official zoning map of Waveland?

That was the focal point of discussion Tuesday night when the town's planning commission and council met with a Mobile, Ala., developer who proposes to erect a 100-unit luxury apartment complex on the northeast corner of Waveland Avenue and Beach Boulevard.

Charles Dickson, planning commission secretary, explained he had informed Jack Booker, the developer, the property was zoned multiple-family residential after consulting a colored zoning map which he had been furnished when he took over the secretary's job.

However, when he reported to Mayor J. J. Ladner and the aldermen a matter was checked out, the official zoning map, posted on the wall of the council chamber, showed all the beach front is zoned A-1 residential.

Lucien M. Gex, Jr., counsel for Booker, questioned which of the two maps is the official one, noting the colored one appeared to contain original signatures of the mayor and Clerk C.O. Dufour.

B.M. Dornblatt, town engineer, said the map on the wall is a tracing of the original which is on file in his office in New Orleans. The colored one had been used for discussion before zoning was adopted, he asserted, and to the best of his memory had shown this tract on Waveland Avenue unmarked and reserved for future street widening. Texture and shade of coloring in this strip varies from the other parts of the map.

Booker and Gex were advised by James DeBlanc, commission chairman, that the

Plane crashes in thunderstorm

Hope of finding survivors of the crash of a Cessna 182 private plane, missing since Thursday afternoon, vanished when crumpled wreckage was spotted in a remote marsh region near Logtown by a Civil Air Patrol pilot shortly before noon Saturday.

Location of the wreck scene followed an intensive air and ground search after the plane, piloted by Peyton V. Brothers, 32, a Tucson, Ariz., businessman, failed to land as scheduled at 6:15 p.m. in Austin, Tex. First reports indicated an attempted landing at Hammond, La., but last positive information showed that a severe thunderstorm prevented putting down at Mobile, Ala., and the craft was last seen on radar at Gulfport.

Brothers and passengers David Gooch, 38, Tucson contractor, his wife, Patricia Sara, 34, and their daughter, Cheryl Lynn, 6, left Tarpon Springs, Fla., at 8 a.m. Thursday after visiting relatives there, and refueled in Fairhope, Ala. The flight plan scheduled stops at Picayune, Baton Rouge, Lake Charles, Austin before their return to Tucson.

Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner, Jr., was notified by Lt. W.C. Clancy of the CAP just before noon Saturday. Ladner, deputies Eido Depreo, Chester Favre and Evert Enxicious met State Patrolman Wayne McMurray, other officers and J.T. Jacobs at the old Logtown School and proceeded to the scene of the accident, approximately three miles from the nearest road in a sparsely wooded marsh covered by brackish water ranging in depth from 18 inches to several feet.

Due to lack of equipment and the fact that a very small portion of the plane was not imbedded in the muck, only the body of Mrs. Gooch was recovered Saturday and brought to Reimann's Fahey-Whitfield Funeral Home by ambulance after being transported to Hancock County Airport by Coast Guard helicopter. Darkness postponed further activity until Sunday.

A party including Sheriff Ladner, deputies Depreo, Favre, Enxicious, MHP officers McMurray, Leon Butten, Albert Mars and George Saxon; Leo Woods, Coroner Emile Piazza, Oliver Sahuque, Pat Toomey, James Bourn, Civil Defense head Bert Stieffel and engineering section leader James Travica, assistant Don Murray, Bernie Piazza, Felton Cuevas, Earl Garcia, Harold Stiglet, Bill Breland, Harold Saucier, Pete Necaise, Bill Carbonette, Davrel Favre and Harold Ryals left the Courthouse early Sunday and were joined by Pearl River County officers and an emergency fire truck from Picayune.

They had been promised two Coast Guard helicopters to transport men and equipment to the plane, but proceeded onfoot after being told that such facilities were not available.

Dean is charged

Beat 1 supervisor H.G. Dean was charged last week with attempting to kill his brother, William R. Dean. The affidavit was given to Lester Hoyer, Beat 1 justice of the peace, but as of Wednesday morning he had issued no warrant.

The charges stem from an alleged attempt by the supervisor to shoot his brother last Friday after a fight in H.G. Dean's residence. The Echo was unable to find out the exact charges because JP Hoyer refused to divulge them.

Board mails second compliance attempt

Failure of educational authorities to answer repeated County School Board enquiries regarding the status of their statement of compliance caused trustees to call a special session on Wednesday.

Board attorney Walter James Phillips expressed his regret at receiving no information from either the state or federal governments and presented trustees with a further statement of compliance similar to those forwarded by adjacent counties.

Containing provisions for integration at the rate of four grades per year, the document, trustees believed, would be favored by the government.

To make sure authorities realize the county system is attempting to follow federal integration instructions, trustees forwarded copies of the new compliance statement directly to the State Superintendent of Education and the U.S. Commissioner of Education in Washington, D.C.

A letter, outlining to disappointment felt by the board in not hearing directly on their former submission will accompany the mailings.

Trustees also heard from Phillips regarding the status of building plans and these, as far as the attorney knew, were proceeding on schedule.

Jackson approval of certain aspects came under consideration when it was revealed certain provisions would have to be met regarding the installation of a new sewerage disposal system in Gulfview. Residents in the area, close to the facility, would be asked to sign a form of approval and this was given to the party owners owning land adjacent to Gulfview School, asks for consent to the erection of a package treatment plant and duplex lift station for the treatment of sewage at the Gulfview School not closer than 250 feet from any residence or 150 feet from any adjacent property.

School bonds, recently issued to cover construction of the new school at Pearlington and additions to Gulfview and Hancock North Central, are in the bond attorney's hands in St. Louis, Mo., and, to avoid interest accumulation, these will be sold as and when the money is required, according to Phillips.

At a meeting on Saturday, trustees approved the appointment of school bus drivers and made final decision on milk deliveries to their various educational plants.

Drivers receiving the vote of approval were: Mrs. R. Mitchell, Miss Barbara McArthur.

Still siezed, one arrested in Kiln raid

A distillery operation, located approximately four miles south of Kiln community, was destroyed and one man arrested by federal authorities in a raid conducted on Tuesday.

Arrested was Bernell L. Necaise, 22, of Rocky Hill, who was arraigned before a United States commissioner in Biloxi and later released on $750 bond. Agents reported finding and destroying a 1,000-gallon distillery along with 7,500 gallons of unaged grain mash.

At St. Stanislaus

Plan new dormitory

Three hundred resident students will have new living quarters when construction is complete on a $800,000 dormitory facility scheduled for erection on the St. Stanislaus College campus shortly, according to Brother Hubert, S.C., Provincial of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart.

To house self-contained and self-sufficient student quarters the entire complex will have central heating and air conditioning and be situated predominantly on the Union Street side of the college grounds. Architects and contractors for the project are the O'Meara-Chandler firm of Houston, Tex. Expected to be completed in eight months, the facility will first be occupied at the commencement of the 1966-67 school year.

In a release giving detail of the proposed construction Brother Hubert says, "In campus dormitories young men from half the states and numerous foreign countries experience a process of learning 24 hours a day. It is here on campus that they make new friends every day and engage in activities never to be forgotten."

"The residence hall system," continues Brother Hubert, "is based on a well proven fact of educational psychology: that learning does not take place only in the formal classroom,

Much learning takes place before and after classes in the friendly cooperative setting of the residence hall. Students learn from one another; they study with and help one another. Much of this informal learning relates to the work of the classroom, but much of it also relates to other aspects of life."

DORMITORY COMPLEX - Construction is slated to commence shortly on this $800,000 dormitory complex at St. Stanislaus. To house 300 students building will be self-sufficient, have central heating and air conditioning and all rooms will have carpeted floors.

Voices From 1902

more than 85 years ago, the Mississippi Constitution of 1902 completed its work. It is a historical document of our own time, for an understanding of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, scarcely can begin to be had without a better point than the one that a remarkable body of delegates recently spent more than a year in drafting. After fading pages, they are the only ones of the kind that have survived. They contain some astounding prophecies.

They may have lacked in foresight, the members of the convention made up in candor. The Constitution they wrote to contain long sections on corporations, public institutions, and the State government.

It was a matter of fact that the Convention met regularly for six months. For the first time in the history of the State, the body recessed for three full months in 1902, so undivided attention could be given to the deliberations.

The Convention resumed its work on March 31, two plans were proposed for support. Both plans had the same aim, which was to give the Negro voters of this State the largest possible degree of participation. There was not a moment's dissent. The only question was how this could be accomplished most efficiently, within the framework of the United States Constitution.

The plan fostered by the majority of the delegates, known as the "Thom Plan," after its sponsor, A. P. Thom of Norfolk, was a plan for a "Glass Plan," after its sponsor, Carter Glass of Virginia.

The Thom plan was by far the more radical of the two. It was based primarily on a device already adopted in the State of Mississippi, known as the "understanding clause." Under this clause, a prospective registrant is required to demonstrate his understanding of government by giving a "reasonable explanation" of any provision of the State or Federal Constitution. He did not have to be able to read the provision; it could be read to him by the registrar. In Mr. Thom's plan, such a requirement was to be applied to the State clean of Negro voters, and that was exactly his aim.

The plan also contained an "understanding clause," but it was to be applied for only two years. After that, it was to be abandoned in favor of reliance upon a requirement that poll taxes must be paid for three years preceding an election. The Glass Plan also contained a grandfather clause, extending permanent registration to veterans and their sons; it denied registration forever to persons convicted of crime, including petty larceny; and it contained the requirements for registration in one's own handwriting.

Mr. Thom's address of Tuesday, April 1, urging his plan for a permanent "understanding clause," must rank among the most revealing addresses of all time. He began by saying that his object was not to maintain white supremacy; white supremacy would take care of itself, for there always would be a vast majority of white persons in the State. His object was far more sweeping: It was to remove the curse of Negro voting altogether, and wholly to eliminate the black man "as a poisonous factor in the politics of this State."

How was this to be accomplished? Mr. Thom reviewed the several approaches that had been considered. One scheme was to limit voting to those who paid taxes of at least $300; it had much in its favor, but it would disfranchise too many white men. A second scheme was to prohibit manual laborers from voting, but that suffered from the same difficulty. The object, after all, was to "take in the white man and eliminate the Negro." Something better had to be found.

This was the "understanding clause." It was perfect. Even the test were administered fairly, "we do not believe that the Negro could pass the examination."

"But it would not be frank in me," continued Mr. Thom, "if I did not say that I do not expect an understanding clause to be administered with any degree of friendship by the white man to the suffrage of the black man. I expect the examination with which the black man will be confronted to be inspired by the same spirit that inspires every man upon the floor in this convention. I would not expect an impartial administration of the clause."

The beauty of this approach, said its sponsor, is that it would operate "in terror" upon the Negroes: They would expect a hostile examination, and "they will not apply for registration." Yet the clause would not exclude any worthy white citizen, for "the white man will find a friendly examiner when he goes to stand this examination." It would not matter if the white man were illiterate: "It is intended to open to the illiterate white men of Virginia an avenue to the ballot box."

Mr. Thom gravely doubted the efficiency of a poll tax, even with a three-year prepayment requirement, as a device for suppressing the Negro vote. "Whether it will strike harder on the white suffrage than on the black we do not know, but we know this, that there is danger of it, and we believe further that it may become a most serious sore upon the body politic, and the source of unending agitation and unending dissatisfaction." The trouble was, said the speaker, that the Negroes were eager to vote. "The Negro race is organized from one end of this State to the other in a way that is impossible among the white race." It would be an easy thing "for the churches to organize that race six months in advance."

One of Mr. Thom's opponents seized upon this point: "Wouldn't it be a very easy matter for a sharp Negro preacher or a sharp Negro lawyer (and there are a great many of them who are very smart), who felt a great interest in the question of Negro suffrage, to hold schools, and go around and train them up, and teach them to go and stand this examination?"

Debate on the contending plans continued for several days, but it swiftly became clear that the Glass forces were in complete command. The one articulate "liberal" in the whole convention was A. L. Pedigo of Henry county, who denounced both the Thom Plan and the Glass Plan as "a labyrinth of pitfalls dug artfully and ingeniously in dark places." He himself believed the Negroes to be an inferior race, not anything near equal to the white man, "but the Negro is here; he is part of us; we cannot do him a wrong without, at the same time, doing ourselves a wrong." But Mr. Pedigo was in such a minority that he discarded more than half of his speech, unrecalled.

In the end, on Friday, April 4, 1902, the Glass Plan was adopted by a vote of 59 to 20. Its chief sponsor, who later was to become one of Virginia's most distinguished Senators and Secretary of the Treasury under Wilson, defended his approach in a brief talk.

He and his colleagues felt "absolutely certain" of the efficiency of their approach. It would emancipate the dominant race of Virginia. It would restore inestimable blessings. "This plan of popular suffrage," said Mr.

Glass, "will eliminate the darky as a political factor in this State in less than five years, so that in no single county of the Commonwealth will there be the least concern felt for the complete supremacy of the white race in the affairs of government."

The concluding colloquy of the debate speaks of the spirit of the times:

Mr. GLASS: . . . Mr. President, in the midst of differing contentions and suggested perplexities, there stands out the uncontroverted fact that the article of suffrage which the Convention will today adopt does not necessarily deprive a single white man of the ballot, but will, inevitably cut from the existing electorate four-fifths of the Negro voters. (Applause.) That was the purpose of this Convention; that will be the achievement.

Mr. PEDIGO: Will it not be done by fraud and discrimination?

Mr. GLASS: By fraud no; by discrimination, yes. But it will be discrimination within the letter of the law, and not in violation of the law. Discrimination! Why, that is precisely what we propose; that, exactly, is what this Convention was elected for—to discriminate to the very extremity of permissible action under the limitations of the Federal Constitution, with a view toward the elimination of every Negro voter who can be gotten rid of, legally, without materially impairing the numerical strength of the white electorate. As has been said, we have accomplished our purpose strictly within the limitations of the Federal Constitution by legislating against the characteristics of the black race, and not against the "race, color, or previous condition" of the people themselves. It is a fine discrimination, indeed, that we have practiced in the fabrication of this plan; and now, Mr. President, we ask the Convention to confirm our work and emancipate Virginia. I ask for a vote on the article of suffrage.

All this, of course, was a long time ago: Sixty-three years, last April. The members of that Convention were close to the War, close to Reconstruction. Their society was fearfully conscious of the enormous masses of illiterate Negroes in their midst. We live in very different times, now. This backward look at a vivid chapter in Virginia history is intended merely to make the point that the Fifteenth Amendment existed then, as it exists now, and it guarantees an unequivocal right to vote to every qualified citizen, regardless of his race.

A bare handful of the members of that Convention, far ahead of their time, understood the necessity for complying with that provision of the Constitution. They were shouted down in Virginia, as they were shouted down across the South. And because they were shouted down 63 years ago, we are today oppressed, in our own generation, with the harsh and punishing terms of Lyndon Johnson's Voting Rights Act of 1965. This was a part of our inheritance; these were the chickens put out to field; and this month, August, 1965, they flutter home to roost.

Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON - Part of the ravaging kiss which tore the City of the Angels apart last week resulted from the strange and paradoxical psychology that pervades Los Angeles.

Its mayor, Sam Yorty, is a former Democratic Congressman who strongly backed Richard Nixon against John F. Kennedy in 1960 and who more recently defeated Congressman Jimmy Roosevelt for mayor, largely because Yorty had given the housewives of Los Angeles the right to throw all their trash into one trashcan, instead of having to separate the paper trash from the cans and bottles. This made Yorty an tremendously popular with Los Angeles housewives that even the son of the late President Roosevelt could defeat him.

But Yorty was so complacent about the problems of Los Angeles Negroes that he ignored a California Advisory Committee report to the U.S. Civil Rights Commission warning of Negro bitterness against the Los Angeles police and also warning that "the social isolation in the Negro community is more complete than it ever was for the Negro rural resident in the South."

Mayor Yorty ignored an invitation from President Johnson to the mayors of major American cities to confer in Washington on how to prevent race riots.

Significantly, two mayors declined—Yorty of Los Angeles and Mayor Daley of Chicago—and serious trouble broke out in both cities this summer.

Finally, and despite Yorty's denials, it is true that Sergeant Striver was rebuffed by Los Angeles in trying to start an anti-poverty program there. Other cities cooperated, but Los Angeles alone of all the major cities did not.

On top of all this, Mayor Yorty was so unconcerned with the rioting that he went out of town to fill a speaking engagement on the Thursday night the riots were spreading like wildfire, and only got around to okaying the call-out of the National Guard the next morning. He later publicly criticized the governor of California for not sending the National Guard in earlier, but the real fact was that Yorty had not signed the request of the chief of police until 11 o'clock that Friday morning, and without his signature neither the lieutenant governor nor the governor could legally call out the National Guard. The National Guard arrived in Los Angeles that evening.

This is the real inside on the mayor of Los Angeles, who after it was all over wanted to be viewed as having been an alert and courageous public official.

But much more important, it illustrates the danger that faces any community whose civic leaders and elected officials refuse to recognize a smoldering volcano of racial bitterness in their midst—and who refuse to act to find a cure before it is too late.

Missing leaders

Only one Negro leader turned up at Los Angeles to try to stem the riots and stop the bloodshed, James Farmer of CORE was not there. Nor was John Lewis of SNCC, or Roy Wilkins of the NAACP, or Dr. Martin Luther King—though Dr. King did arrive after the shooting was all over.

Dick Gregory, the Negro comedian, was the only leader with the courage to stand up and urge his fellow Negroes to stop fighting—and he took a bullet wound in payment.

If Dr. King and some of the other top national leaders had arrived early to try to help, the bloodshed and destruction might have been halted sooner.

Fund drop off

Contributions to the civil rights movement have fallen off sharply since President Johnson signed the voting rights bill and since the Los Angeles riots.

This is threatening to put some civil rights organizations out of business.

As a result, the more militant leaders are looking for new issues that will keep the money rolling in. This is why some of them have started to agitate against U.S. involvement in Viet Nam.

Space politics

There is only one reason why astronauts and space ships take off from Cape Kennedy, Fla., but the direction of the whole business comes from Houston, Tex., a thousand miles away. That reason is politics.

The Chairman of the House Appropriations Subcommittee which votes the money for space activities comes from Houston.

He is Albert Thomas, a very dictatorial Congressman when it comes to money for his home town.

It was Congressman Thomas who insisted that the Space Agency move from Cape Kennedy to Houston, and who was in a position to block money for the space program unless he had his own way. So he got what he wanted. Of course, he did get a little help from another famous Texan, Lyndon Johnson, while LBJ was still a Senator from Texas.

Viet Cong terror

The communist Viet Cong are now losing some of the popular support they've had so long in South Viet Nam.

They have raised the tax on peasants to help finance the war, forced young men into military service, and brutalized families that dared to protest. Even women and children have been tortured.

Result has been to alienate the villagers to whom they once posed as protectors and friends.

Intelligence sources believe the change is due to the military difficulties the Viet Cong is now having because of U.S. intervention. Both South Vietnamese and U.S. troops have been inflicting heavier losses on the communists in recent weeks, in addition to the air strikes that disrupt their supply lines.

It is far too early for us to be optimistic, but it may well be that their continued losses are making the Viet Cong more desperate.

Cocky premier

Premier Nguyen Ky, who says Hitler is his hero, is getting more and more stubborn about letting Americans make decisions on the conduct of the South Viet Nam War. He has even threatened to order the Americans out of South Viet Nam altogether.

U.S. advisers doubt he would ever go that far, but some consider his threat a blessing in disguise.

It will be recalled that President Johnson reversed Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge after Lodge had said he would remain in Saigon whether we were wanted or not. The very next day, Johnson carefully stated that we will stay in South Viet Nam only as long as we are wanted—thus giving the U.S. an escape if Premier Ky gets too obnoxious.

GOP roadblock

Republicans are quietly sabotaging the Democratic drive to finish legislation and adjourn Congress early in September.

The Republicans have nothing against going home, but they don't want to pass any more Democratic legislation. So they have started to boycott committee meetings called to push important bills.

The problem has become so serious that the AFL-CIO has assigned its lobbyists to prod the legislators into attending meetings—at least on labor bills.

Pedaling swimmer from Bay goes far

Bill Ketchum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ketchum of Henderson Point who is on a 1,000-plus mile cycling trip to his old home town of Pittsfield, Mass., was the subject of a feature article as he pedaled through Norfolk, Va., last weekend.

The 17-year-old youth is a member of the Bay swimming team and told the people in Norfolk he's keeping in shape for swimming with the bicycling project. He left here Aug. 12 and expects to return by train about Sept. 6 to go back to school.

Piloting a stripped-down English bike, the leggy youth averages 100 miles a day. Two packed knapsacks straddle the bike's rear wheel and a bedroll is on top. Pedaling more than 12 hours a day, he stops along the highway to bed down at night. Sometimes people along the route invite him to spend the night in their homes, he said.

Folks along the way have been pretty good to him, he says. Just south of Suffolk Wednesday, for example, a car stopped and the people chatted with him and gave him a dollar.

In Suffolk, he stopped at the Planters' Peanut factory and was given a souvenir pack of nut delicacies to nibble on.

"Once in a while, people offer me a meal and an occasional dollar. But I don't ask for it," he said.

In New Bern, N.C., he paused at a large national chain motel for a map. The employees instead gave him a cool, clean-sheeted bedroom for the night. "The manager wasn't supposed to know about it," he added.

Occasionally, a passing car will try to scare him with a loud horn. He figures this is just the breaks of the road. But on his handbar he has a big bulb-horn that would out-honk a Renault.

He sticks to U.S. highways and has taken the coastal route north from Florida.

"A lot of the roads are pretty bad for bikes. I have a couple of close shaves every day. When the road is narrow and the cars pass, I guess they don't see me," he explained.

The only breakdowns so far have been minor ones — a wheel-mileage cyclometer broke, as well as his rear tail light and wristwatch.

Bill left Norfolk hoping for a piggy-back ride over the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel on a truck. He hopes to ride through New York City en route to Massachusetts.

Bag limits set on ducks, geese

Waterfowl seasons and bag limits for 1965 were announced today by Jim Carraway of the Mississippi Game and Fish Commission.

Ducks and coots may be hunted from sunrise on Dec. 1, through sunset on Jan. 9, 1966, with the following bag limits: ducks other than mergansers, 4 daily and 8 in possession; coots, 10 per day and 20 in possession.

Hunters will be allowed one mallard per day, as compared with last year's limit of two per day with the bag limit for pintails set at one.

The daily bag limit on ducks, other than mergansers, may not include more of the following species than two wood ducks, two canvasbacks, one mallard and one pintail. Possession limits may not include more of the following species than two wood ducks, two canvasbacks, two mallards and two pintails.

The limits on American, red-breasted, and hooded mergansers, in the aggregate of these species, are five daily and 10 in possession, of which not more than one daily and two in possession may be hooded mergansers.

The Commission also announced that a split season,

Assists with Gemini project

Fireman Apprentice David J. Karl, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Karl of Route 1, Bay St. Louis is serving aboard the minesweeper USS Avenger, a recovery force ship for the project Gemini, the eight-day flight of astronauts Gordon Cooper and Charles Conrad.

His ship was located just a few miles seaward of Cape Kennedy when Gemini 5 lifted off Launch Pad 19 and began its plus three million-mile orbital journey. Avenger stood by to retrieve the astronauts and their spacecraft in case the mission was aborted during the early seconds of powered flight.

After the two-man craft attained orbit the minesweeper was released to assume regular operations.

Pearl River announces new faculty

President Garvin H. Johnston of Pearl River Junior College announces there will be nine new faculty members to serve in their respective positions at Pearl River Junior College for the 1965-66 school year.

They are as follows: Mrs. Patsy Flowers, business administration; John Patrick Jones, electronics; Mrs. Carolyn Rounsaville, business administration; Haschal Stockstill, drafting; Mrs. Dorothy Louise Sudbury, nursing; Mrs. Minnie C. Lee, cosmetology; Herman Tynes, welding; Eugene Phillips, music and choir director; and Mrs. Mary Wehling, English.

... and registration dates

Freshmen accepted for admission and not pre-registered will assemble in Pearl River Junior College auditorium at 8 a.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 7, according to college officials.

The 1965-66 fall semester will commence on Sept. 6 and dormitories will be open for freshmen at 2 p.m. the same day.

Freshmen who have pre-registered and have made a schedule of classes will report at 8 a.m. on Wednesday Sept. 8 also in Jacobs Hall.

Sophomore registration will take place from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Jacobs Hall on Sept. 7. Classes will commence at their regularly scheduled periods on Friday, Sept. 10.

Waveland zoning...

proper course if they wish to pursue the development is to have the property owner, George Springer, petition the commission for an exception under the zoning ordinance.

Joseph V. Colson, chairman of the planning commission at the time zoning was adopted, recalled that Waveland Avenue had been a "bone of contention" with the planning commission. W. Ray Gordon, another commissioner, said there had been some feeling to zone this multiple-family for one particular development, Russell 11 Alba, who lives in the area, contended that was "a small unique project which would be under local management." He said he had made a mistake in supporting that proposal and asserted he would get a 100-car caravan from New Orleans for a rally Labor Day weekend to fight any change in zoning there. "We don't want outside interference in our little resort town," he said.

Booker finally outlined his proposal which included off-street parking, a swimming pool and a sewerage disposal system. He said he wanted to build for NASA people. "I don't know if there's something wrong with them and Waveland doesn't want them," he commented. Many families moving here with NASA have homes elsewhere and are not in a position to buy homes immediately, he continued.

Gordon noted a petition opposing multiple-family use on the beach already has 60 to 70 signatures and contended there are other tracts for such use.

Youth injured in one car wreck

Richard Christensen, 18, sole occupant of a car belonging to his brother John, was treated for back lacerations at Bay-Waveland Clinic suffered after the vehicle struck a brick fence on Blue Meadow Road at 3:20 on Wednesday.

Deputy Evert Rmicious, of the sheriff's office, stated the youth lost control when the car hit loose gravel while making a turn. The automobile was demolished.

'65 average skeeter year, Elmore says

A check is being conducted by the Gulf Coast Mosquito Control Commission and Dow Chemical Co. on a new liquid spray to curb breeding of the insects which was applied last week on Point Clear Island opposite several fishing camps along Bayou Caddy.

Chris Elmore, director of the three-county commission, said 900 gallons of liquid was applied by air last Wednesday on three trips from 6 a.m. to 1 p.m.

They had been treated earlier with the Paris-green pellets when breeding was found. Dow, which is experimenting with a new treatment for salt-marsh mosquitoes, provided the chemical and the commission provided the labor.

Waveland, he said, does not want apartment houses on the beach.

James H. Griffin, all of Pass Christian, left around noon Friday on a 16 foot speed hull. A defect in the gear mechanism occurred when they were about three miles on the other side of the island.

An all night search by Civil Defense workers and yacht club officials covered waters from Ship Island to Grand Pass. They were spotted by two boats operated by Felix Pavolini and Harry Bowes and Herbert Hansen, his son Joe and Lolly Parker, who towed the cold ones back to shore.

No fish were caught Friday, but they did catch a few while awaiting aid early Saturday.

Waterborne commerce on the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway hit 71.6 million tons during 1964.

PULPWOOD PURCHASES
Purchases of pulpwood grown in Mississippi and delivered to pulp and paper mills in 1964 totalled $43,154,000, according to a report by H.J. Malsberger of Atlanta, General manager of the Southern Pulpwood Conservation Assn.

ing bitter. Sara McFarland was chosen most valuable player on Leroy Luke's team; Anthony Ladner, Pony league up pitcher and Tommy Martin, league leading hitter.

Babs Tabb who spent the summer here while working for G.E. at MTF leaves for her Greenville home Friday to prepare for her Aug. 29, wedding. Carrilu Scarborough, current MSCW intern at the Echo, will be her maid of honor.

City Hall tennis court has been a busy place during the past weeks. . . some seen racketing balls around were Rickey Stechmann, Bert Chevis, John Dougher and Leo Parker.

Lots of new cars all over town—Richard Schaeffer has a new blue sports model for his return to Southern; Nody Ladner has also acquired a shiny automobile for his trek to the same university; Kay Dorich travels to work each day in a really good looking sports car; Jerry Seuzaneau is justifiably proud of his new maroon vehicle, Luther Ladner has a small white coupe and J.T. Ladner is driving around in a royal blue sports car.

A very happy birthday wish goes to Eddie Fayard, Jr., who cut his 14th cake on Thursday. Chippy Henry has "retired" from his summer job at MTF to prepare to enter Southern on Sept. 8.

Several of Waveland's fledgling sailors won trophies at Friday night's award banquet at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club. Basil Kennedy and Dick Messtayer, Jr. were pleased with their pupils, Martha Lynch and Beth Colson, both won races; David De Blanc also won his race and came up with most improved award and Jim Gilly really loves the sport, having sailed in 27 out of a possible 34 races.

Paula Crider and houseguest, Carol Boutwell of Laurel, left Saturday for Hattiesburg to get ready for the fall semester at Southern.

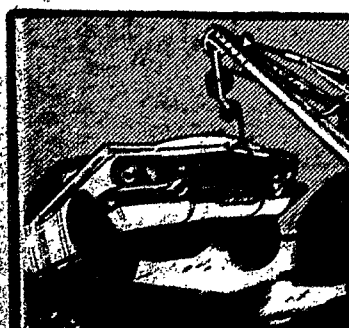

Sister Catchie spent the weekend in New Orleans where she visited former Waveland residents, Carolyn and Sharon Redding.

David Hubbard also went to the Crescent City Friday for a visit with Gene Greenwald at his aunt's home.

Linda Munch, who will begin her second year at Loyola in September, is quite a Grand Old Opry fan. She and her parents will go to Nashville, Tenn., on Friday to see the show in its native habitat and to see Porter Wagner whom met recently in Ponchatoula.

David Compretta was surprised on his fifteen birthday with a swimming party given by his parents at Porter's pool on St. Charles St.

Those attending were Nancy McDonald, Sally Porter, Betty Perniclaro, Carol Sainford, Marsha Compretta, Sharon Monti, Debbie Weidman, Elaine Blalze, Connie Kemery, Jamie Arnold, Sylvan and Don Ladner, Bert Chevis, John Heath, Anthony Ladner, M. J. Rhodes, Frank Lagarde, Johnny Marshall and Greg Presnell.

Skippers sail Lipton trials

The Sir Thomas Lipton Trophy, emblematic of Fish Class sailing supremacy, will be contested over the Labor Day weekend in Panama City.

Twelve top skippers from Bay-Waveland Yacht Club and Pass Christian Yacht Club, attempting to qualify for the four berths allocated to the two clubs, met in round-robin competition over the weekend at Pass Christian and sailed six of the twelve qualifying races.

The second half of the total point series is scheduled for this weekend at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

Winners of individual events so far are: Jack Gordon, B-WYC; Jerry Ballanco, PCYC; Judy Reeves, B-WYC; Bill Reeves, B-WYC; and Gary Terrell, PCYC.

Sailing through an almost complete range of contrasting weather conditions skippers and crews exercised fine tactics and sportsmanship with the result that after a total of 72 boats had crossed the starting line and either finished, fouled out or failed to complete the course, no protest requiring committee action was registered.

Club team standings prior to the first starting gun on Saturday were: Bay-Waveland, Dick Reeves, Judy Reeves, Bill Reeves, Jack Gordon, John Christensen and Mrs. Wesley McFarland; Pass Christian, T. A. Schmidt, Sydney Ellis, Jerry Ballanco, Warren Adams, Philip David and Gary Terrell.

Skippers and crews will be entertained at Bay-Waveland Saturday following the last race. Bilge bailing will be followed by a buffet supper and dancing. Tabulation of points and trophy presentation is slated to follow after the final race on Sunday.

The Bay-Waveland YC as defending Lipton Trophy holders hosted the event last year but were defeated in the final series by the team from St. Andrews Bay.

With a strong shout, line prepares for action at Hancock North Central. Teams to beat Hawks have been practicing for last two weeks and play their first game against Sunfall on Sept. 3.

Week gridders prep for season

begin to look up in excitement this year. Hancock North Central has completed a full season of week-outs with a record of 10-0, sustaining any makings of a good, outstanding ball club that is full of pep, drive and spirit.

Coach Lee has been running senior sprinter Kenny Randall at the field general post. Randall, who tips the scales at 160, is probably the fastest man on the squad and possesses the ability to execute roll out pass patterns. In the back up position for signal caller is Lloyd Anderson and Glen Davis, both sophomores moving up from the junior varsity camp.

Paul Osteen and Paul Cuevas will handle the tailback position with Warren Ladner at wingback and Eddie Ruzicka, 183 lbs. at fullback.

of the 38 athletes who reported for practice five are returning lettermen and eight are seniors while 14 were on JV squad last year.

The Hawks sported a 5-5 record last year, one of their best seasons since they entered the Gulf Coast Conference as a major contender.

Coach Lee's Hawks were seated sixth in the Gulf Coast Conference by all the member coaches at a executive council meeting last week. That will be determined come fall.

RETURN UNIFORMS

All Little and Pony Leaguers are to turn in their uniforms as soon as possible to their managers or to Mrs. Theo Tudury, parks and playground director.

Bay High, HNC rated in poll

Bay High School was rated to finish in third slot and Hancock North Central in sixth position at close of 1965 football season play, according to results of a preseason poll of Gulf Coast Conference football coaches.

Coach Roland Ladner of Hancock North Central and Coach Lance Lumpkin of Bay St. Louis were among the six new members selected to serve on the council's executive when they met last Monday at Hancock North Central.

Schedules for the schools are:
Bay High: Sept. 3, vs. Stone High, home; Sept. 10, vs. Pass Christian, away; Sept. 17, vs. Pearl River Central, home; Sept. 24, vs. North Central, away; Oct. 1, vs. Harrison Central, away.

IN WOMEN'S GOLF

Mrs. G. Ward won the best five hole tournament played on ladies day Tuesday at Pass Christian Isles Golf Club. Tied for low putts at 16 were Mmes. R.E. Godley, Guy Bufkin, V. Kluzak and Joseph Walker.

2 starts- 2 wins recorded by BBC

Donald Marquer, Jr., one of the battling barefoots, stopped the heavy-favorite, Mike Turnage of Pascagoula, to give Bay Boxing Center their second team trophy in a many starts. The 12-bout match for the benefit of the school for the Retarded Children was staged Friday at the National Guard Armory.

Pascagoula Boxing Club finished second in the four city card with three wins, four losses and one draw. In third and fourth place were Hattiesburg, 2-0-1, and Carnes, 1-0-2. In the main event, Turnage was listed as heavy odds favorite.

As we noted approximately 50 percent of the population of the world is either seeing or hearing about astronauts Cooper and Conrad's latest venture into the no-quite-so-known world of outer space, we're once again overwhelmed at the pace in which we live. Here in Hancock County, interest is keyed to a fever pitch as to the welfare of the two, due partially to the fact that we feel so much a part of the 'brave new world' of planetary exploration since the Test Site has made us actually aware of every new happening. To be perfectly honest we really don't know the difference between a rocket and an anti-missile missile except that people ride in rockets and we've a hunch that missiles are tented with something even more lethal. Our admiration for space men is such that we're certain they would have been riding ahead of Hannibal's elephants provided they had been born when he got the yen to cross the Alps. For once, we prefer to be sitting right here bawling our battered appetites than circling the globe in a series of dizzying revolutions.

Col. Glen visits MTF

While on the subject, readers may be interested to learn that pioneer astronaut Col. John Glen who managed to survive his historic flight only to come a cropper in his own bathroom, was at MTF with Mr. NASA himself, James Webb, last Wednesday. They arrived via helicopter shortly after noon to check on progress of proceedings, no doubt.

Get well wishes are on the way to Caroline Kiefer who was hospitalized on Saturday, Aug. 14, although we didn't find out about it until the following Friday.

Lucille (Mrs. Ed, Sr.) Fayard, is in line for a birthday greeting having cut her cake on Wednesday, Aug. 4.

Welcome mat is out

The travelling Blanchards, Gerri and Sam arrived home from St. Louis last Wednesday only to depart for his cousin's wedding in Galveston, Tex. on Friday.

We wondered why the old town just didn't seem quite as small for a little over six weeks until we saw Dec Elliott, and recalled that he and Mrs. Elliott had been visiting, first with their son-in-law and daughter, Capt. and Mrs. Howard Duff in Marietta, Ga., and then they spent a week with their son, Lela, and his family. The Elliotts are due congratulations having celebrated their 49th wedding anniversary on Aug. 16 (they had the party on the 15, as the whole family could gather for the event on Sunday.) This took place in Baton Rouge. It's also good to welcome Karen and John and the three little Springers home. They have returned from an extended vacation in Illinois, California and other points West.

Don't get excited if you happen to see Richie Homes with his newly cultivated goatee. . . he's not trying out for the lead in Around the World in 80 Days. . . he's just vowed not to shave it off until a certain person returns from her visit with her mother in Illinois! Ah, love.

Around town

So sorry to hear that Mrs. Pearl Monroe suffered a broken hip while visiting her son-in-law and daughter, the George Lacostours, in Norfolk, Va.

Visiting her parents Helen and Norvin Penrose for two weeks were Nannette and Frank Madden of Jackson, Miss.

Max and Nellus Rhodes returned home last week after spending a few days with son Dusty and family in Jackson.

Mrs. Windrop Carter, who left Sunday for Houston, Tex., entertained a group of friends at luncheon at the Edgewater Golf Hotel on Friday. She's Mabel (Mrs. N.L.) Carter's sister.

We're told Imperial Lounge which Sue and Junior Bayless opened on Highway 90 at Nicholson Avenue last week, is quite a splash spot.

Another new business is Jan's Hairstyling operated by Jan Williams (she hails from California), in the building on Coleman which first housed Bea George's office, at one time Waveland Advocate headquarters and most recently Charlie Dickson's 'old' office.

Irna and Rube Duncan slipped away from the Crescent City to relax by spending the weekend at Holiday Sands Motel.

Pilgrimage

It's hard to realize but it's time to begin thinking about Spring Pilgrimage. . . at least time for Miss Veronica Mohr, to be doing more than just consume. For the fifth year she's accepted chairmanship of this annual tour and as always, is faced with the problem of obtaining homes of beauty and interest for visitors to view. The Bay-Waveland Garden Club sponsored event (in cooperation with Coast Council, of course) attracts visitors from all over the States, and some from other countries, and we're asking requests to aid Miss Veronica. Consider your home as a place where more than maybe polishing the furniture and silver. . . be brighter and smiling hospitably for a few hours. . . but if you're asked to participate, we feel

BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS.

RECENTLY WED - Mr. and Mrs. Wallace J. Cameron cut wedding cake at Knights of Columbus Hall following their marriage on Saturday, Aug. 14 at Our Lady of Gulf Catholic Church. Bride is former Miss Freda Pernicaro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pernicaro of Bay St. Louis. He is son of Mr. and Mrs. Ramsay Cameron of Pass Christian. The couple is at home on Austin Lane in Bay St. Louis.

Once again the old expression 'it's a small world' proved true when the Glasses de-planed at Guatemala City the first person they encountered happened to be Wavelander Bill Gaudet.

Fair news

St. Clare's Church Fair workers want to thank everyone who showed up to make this year's the most successful to date. . . A truly gratifying turnout really helped whittle the debt. . . or at least made a dent in the principal. Rose and Charlie Richard won the lovely gold brocade chair and ottoman made by Mr. Charles Shambley—oh, and we want to add the name of the Shambley's niece, Juanita Loup, to the list of workers. Juanita put in full time in the Shambley's bonnets and bags booth. One of the most welcome fair visitors was everyone's favorite, Brother Athanasius, accompanied by Brother Richard. His severe illness impaired his speech, but not his ever ready smile.

A reminder to all whose homes have been saved by the quick response of Waveland Volunteer Department and who have called wanting to express their appreciation. . . we can tell you how to do it in a big way. . . just be sure and attend their second annual fair which begins at 5 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 28.

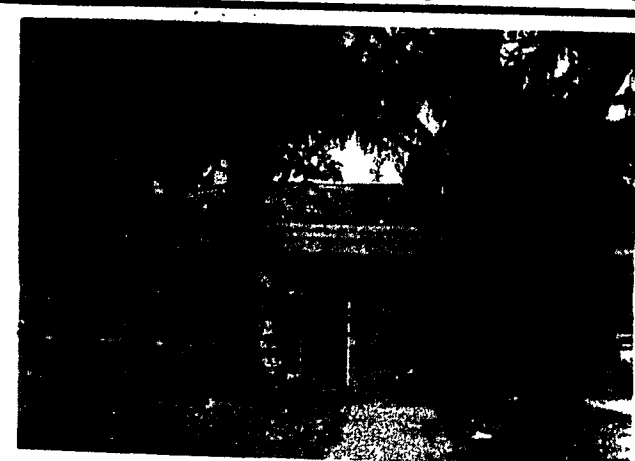

We certainly hope to see more faces from the Bay as last year's turnout from the neighboring city was almost embarrassing in its absence, although we do have to compliment Clermont Harbor and Lakeshore residents as they showed up in full force.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kramer have returned home after a five day vacation in Fort Walton Beach, Fla. They were accompanied by son Johnny, home on leave from the U.S. Army. He's stationed at Fort Hood, Tex., and as of today, has 94 days until he is scheduled to be discharged.

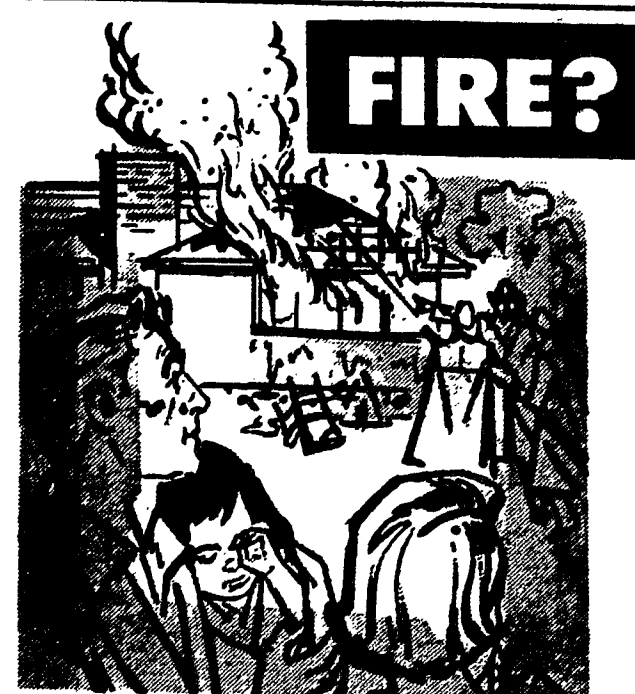

Dottie and Louis Gracianette are having a ball visiting Dottie's sister, Louise, and husband, Joe Wymer. They took in St. Clare's fair, went fishing and caught big specs Monday and on Tuesday Dottie whipped up her specialty Swedish Royal pot roast, a very fancy dish which is tipped off with flaming brandy. Louise granddaughter Renee Watkins, left for the Crescent City on Sunday after spending two weeks with the Wymer.

Miss Granger becomes bride of Mr. Bradford

Miss Mercedes Mary Granger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Granger of Plaquemine, La., became the bride of Millard Fillmore Bradford, son of Capt. and Mrs. Ivan J. Bradford of Bay St. Louis, in a singlering ceremony Saturday morning at Saint John Evangelist Church in Plaquemine.

Father A. McCulla officiated with Msgr. Louis Marrienneaux, cousin of the groom, assisting. Traditional nuptial music was played by Mrs. Jerry Wagertrack.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride had as her maid of honor Miss Pat Blyman of Plaquemine. Misses Barbel Bradford, cousin of the groom, and Annette Repp were bridesmaids.

Jordan Bradford was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Leon Griffin and Johnny Lee Drinkwater. Milton Bradford, Jr., Guy Hymel and Wayne Allenwood served as ushers.

A reception followed at the Lions Club. The center table was covered by a turquoise linon tablecloth and held a three-tiered wedding cake. Assisting in serving were Misses Jordan Bradford, Sam Gibson and P. E. Johnson.

Following a brief wedding trip to Biloxi, the couple will be at home in Plaquemine where the groom is employed by Ramsay Sacrolet Chemical Corporation.

Others attending from Bay St. Louis were: Mrs. Randolph Bourgeois, Mr. and Mrs. George Heltzman, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Chiniche, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Glass and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Henry.

Future USM students see art sketches

Sketches, drawn and exhibited by Miss Betty Smith of Clermont Harbor, were displayed to future students of the University of Southern Mississippi who were guests of the Hancock County Chapter of the Alumni Assn. Thursday at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Majoring in fine arts, Miss Smith is entering her second year at college this fall.

Officers of the alumni are Bob Hubbard, III, president; Mrs. Joseph Kersanac, vice president; Mrs. Jeanne Williams, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Don Coffey, director.

world summer vacation trip. More travellers Joan, Red, Rhett and Alicia Glass and Milton Cormier had a wonderful time on their Guatemala City vacation. For some utterly incomprehensible reason they beamed the fact that every imaginable beverage but water was flowing as H2O normally does. ## Wendling, Mr. Boyka Exchange marriage vows

Miss Barbara Wendling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wendling of Bay St. Louis, and Mr. Terry Lee Boyka of Tucson, were solemnized on the first Baptist Church of Bay St. Louis.

The double ring ceremony was officiated by Rev. Emory M. Catherine Busby, assisted by Mrs. G.

Ritchum on the organ. The church was decorated with baskets of gladioli and daisies.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride had her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. Wendling, as matron of honor.

James Wendling, brother of the bride, served as the groom's best man. Ushers were James Weaver of Gulfport and Robert Winters of Long Beach.

A reception followed at the bride's home. Assisting in serving were Misses Myrian Bond, Phillis Coulter, Faye Tullos, Virginia Vandevender and Billie Faye Carter.

After a wedding trip the couple will be at home in Tucson, Ariz.

Episcopal School makes appointments

Paul Paslogis, holder of a master's degree in education, with a major in secondary principalship and also in mathematics and business, has been appointed assistant principal of Christ Episcopal Day School.

Mrs. L. N. McInnis, a graduate of H. Sophie Newcomb College in New Orleans and a major in elementary education, will also join the faculty as a music, art and remedial reading teacher.

Paslogis will assist in pupil guidance and counseling, on the Junior High level, and will aid in planning for the addition of a sixth grade.

He will continue his duties as mathematics instructor and will serve as seventh grade home room teacher.

Mrs. McInnis was director of the kindergarten schools in Schweinfurt, Germany while her husband, Captain L.N. McInnis, was stationed in West Germany, and later, while in Paris she graduated from the Alliance Francaise - French Language School. She has also studied vocal music and art.

Capt. and Mrs. McInnis have one child, Irby Neill McInnis, III, who was born in Paris. Capt. McInnis is now serving as a member of the staff of Major General H.W.O. Kinnard, commander of the army's new air mobile division in Viet Nam.

Polly Peers

(Cont. from Page 3-B.) and former neighbor of Waveland Jewel (Mrs. Felix) Miller. Mr. Graham attended Sunday School and Church at First Methodist and as far as we can ascertain, is at 89, the oldest living member of the local Masonic organization.

Jack Wolfe, (he's Bootsie's son and Jane Mollere's brother) made Dixie section of Sunday's Times-Picayune. Jack sings with the Belle Chassiers, one of 24 nationwide members of the SPEBSQSA, rightly translated (we hope) as Society for the Prevention of Extinction of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America.

Former Echo reporter Robin Gross, now Mrs. Andrew McAlear, became a mamma on July 28. Little Andrew, Jr. arrived in a Toledo, Ohio hospital weighing six pounds, 13 ounces.

Gripe corner

We're all for the L and N cross tie renovating project and the nice white rocks around the track are an improvement, BUT there must be some way to de-activate the warning bells and lights on Second Street when no train is imminent. . . the darn things go like crazy about 75 percent of the time, and after so long one just ignores the safety measure. . . soooooo sooner or later, a real train will come by, and oocy, goocy, what a mess!

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Patrick Bourgeois, a daughter, Donna Lynn, weighing six pounds, 12 ounces, born at Hancock General Hospital on Aug. 12. The mother is the former Judith Ann Taconi.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Boyd Lee, twin boys, Darren David and Darrell Daniel, weighing four pounds, nine ounces and three pounds, 15 ounces respectively, born at Hancock General Hospital Aug. 17. The mother is the former Judith Boyd Lecher.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Franklin Coevas, a daughter, Jean Katherine, weighing seven pounds, three ounces, born at Hancock General Hospital on Aug. 12. The mother is the former Katherine Lovell Lipe.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert George Duval, a son, Andrew Harold Duval, weighing seven pounds, born at Hancock General Hospital on Aug. 14. The mother is the former Miss Joyce Ann Lawrence.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Marguis Favre, a son, Thomas Marguis, Jr., weighing six pounds, nine ounces, born Aug. 15 at Hancock General Hospital. The mother is the former Bettie Grace Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. William Swords of Huntsville, Ala., their first child, a son, William Edward, weighing eight pounds, one ounce, born Aug. 18 in Huntsville. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. O.O. Swords of Chappilly Terrace.

MITCHELL IS HURT
Denny Mitchell, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Mitchell of Pearlington, is reported in serious condition at Sibley Hospital where he was taken last Monday after an auto crash on the west middle bridge over Pearl River on U.S. 90 in Louisiana. He is a spring graduate of Bay High School.

Hollywood

As anyone who has passed the Back O' Town section since Tuesday probably already knows, Hollywood has arrived. Details in a news story, but in an effort to aid decorator Bill Kiernan, we're asking if anyone has placards, signs, advertising in any form circa early 1930's?

This is the period in which the Tennessee William's play takes place. . . if so, just give us a call and we'll pass the message on to Mr. Kiernan.

Animal notes

Sorry to hear that Princess, Louise and Joe Wymers' lovely dog lost five of the litter of six pups born last month. The survivor, christened Dutchess is thriving. Doting pup owners in town are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Davis who spend most of their spare time admiring the antics of their new pet, a Chihuahua named Cindy.

Miss Blanchard becomes bride of Mr. Schuler

The marriage of Miss Patricia Anne Blanchard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blanchard, to George Philip Schuler, III, son of Mr.

and Mrs. Schuler, Jr., of Madison, Wis., was solemnized Sunday at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

Father White officiated at the double ring ceremony said before an altar banked with daisies. Prof. Joseph Hamersbach played traditional nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride had as her matron of honor her sister, Mrs. Wallace Burns. Misses Wynne Heath, Mary Ann Wellbacher and Margaret Lamb were bridesmaids.

Serving the groom as best man was his brother, Elliott Schuler. Groomsman were James Myers of Hillsboro, Ill., Thomas Casey of Madison, Fla., Joseph and Albert Blanchard, brothers of the bride, and Paul Grimstead of Madison, were ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lamb entertained with a reception in their home following the wedding. Bouquets of gladioli and pompon daisies decorated the house. Serving were Miss Marcia Shisa, aunt of the bride, Mrs. G. Ballina and Mrs. Andre Traywick.

Following a wedding trip to Point Clear, Ala., the couple will be at home in Baton Rouge, La.

Announcement is made this week of the engagement of Miss Phyllis Oliver, daughter of Mrs. Tulester Oliver of Bay St. Louis, to William M. Moran, Jr., son of Mrs. Helen Moran Delisle and the late William Moran.

The wedding is scheduled for 3 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 25, at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church. Miss Oliver is a graduate of Bay High School and is presently employed by Southern Bell Telephone Co. in Gulfport.

A graduate of Pass Christian High School, the prospective groom recently completed a four year tour of duty with the U.S. Navy.

USS CONSTELLATION

Launched in Baltimore on Sept. 7, 1790, the U.S. Frigate Constellation was first ship of U.S. Navy and remained in commission for 158 years. Now on permanent display in Baltimore ship is undergoing restoration. To assist in financing endeavor, copper coins minted from original copper spiles in hull are being sold at $1 each. Donations for coins, all dated 1797, to "Constellation" - Baltimore, Maryland 21202.

rite by virtue of his having won the Golden Gloves title last year, been named Mississippi state champion, represented Pascagoula in the National AAU meet in Las Vegas last season and voted the state's outstanding boxer of 1964.

Marquar, the under dog of the bout, and Mid-South Champion and Golden Glove title holder, moved in with lightning speed from the starting bell and his series of jabs to the head and abdomen coupled with a display of fine footwork soon put him out in front on points.

The decision, in his favor, put the Bay squad out in front by a one fight margin.

Two highly rated members of the Bay team were unable to find pairings, so manager, Buck Price elected to spar the pair for the card's opener. Harvey Mitchell and Earl "Buck" Lander went three rounds in a no decision bout.

Next on the card were the 60 pounders, Rickey Charlton of PBC was awarded a unanimous mark over BBC's Dennis Gaurgeois and Ferdinand Bilbo of BBC won his first pairing by taking all three rounds over Carnes' David Slade. The 75 pounders followed and Elzie Bilbo of BBC battled to a draw with Lee Michael of Pascagoula and Chuckie Carver of BBC, won by a split-decision over Robert Hester of PBC.

In the sixth and seventh bouts of the night, Virgil Baf-ton of PBC scored a unanimous mark over Henry Montgomery of Carnes and Mike Fayard fell to James Hester of PBC by a split 2-1.

The most exciting bout of the 12-bout card was between two former Golden Glove champs, Smile Bourgeois of BBC and Mike Mosley of PBC. Bourgeois was awarded a TKO with 1:52 second in the first round, Robert Stieffell, home on leave from the Marine Corps, lost as 125 lb. Raymond Hester of Pascagoula came out on top with a 2-1 mark.

Rounding out the card, Danny Swain of Carnes moved in on Lollice Bilbo of BBC for a trophy and Jack Towney of Hattiesburg split with Lamar Mosley of Pascagoula.

"...and United Gas has the reserves and pipelines to meet all your future needs."

Not just for this year or next, but for years to come... United Gas can meet the fuel requirements of any industry attracted to the Gulf South. Dependable supplies of natural gas are a vital factor in the highly competitive business of attracting new industry to an area. United Gas assures that dependability — with gas reserves in more than 500 fields... with nearly 10,000 miles of main pipe lines here in the Gulf South. No other gas supplier could serve new industry as well.

Local man is air hero

Comdr. Roger M. Boh, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Boh of Bay St. Louis, and pilot of an F4D jet fighter in Viet Nam has been awarded five Air Medals for heroism in aerial flight.

The awards were made after Comdr. Boh had flown 550 missions against North Viet Nam in a total of 1,100 hours of combat flying time. Serving on board the aircraft carrier Coral Sea, he is executive officer of Fighter Squadron 184 and has been engaged in combat operations since the US air strikes began last February.

His wife and four children reside in San Diego, Calif., where the squadron is home-based.

COMPLETES TRAINING - John E. Plack, son of Mr. and Mrs. R.E. Plack of Greenmeadow Road, Bay St. Louis, is home on a two week leave after completing nine weeks of basic training at Great Lakes, Ill. A recent graduate of Bay High School, he will return to the Great Lakes for 16 weeks schooling as a hospital corpsman.

Polly Peers . . .

whole thing came about more or less accidentally as C. M. Sgt. and Mrs. Dennis E. Helm and children, Mike, Robert, Harvey and Vivian, arrived from Barksdale, AFB to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Arceneaux, before leaving for duty in the Philippines. Another daughter, Mrs. Richard Gatti, flew in from Chicago to pick up her three children, Ric, Guy and Beaver, who had been visiting the Arceneaux. (She stayed with Jeanne and Andre while here). Then J. Menou Arceneaux, wife Patty and their children flew in from Lafayette, La. for a weekend visit with his sisters Marie, Violette and Nanette, and the idea of a reunion occurred. A total of 37 grandchildren and one great grandson, plus their elders had fun in the water and on the beach. . . the group included: Mr. and Mrs. E.J. Arceneaux, Mr. and Mrs. P.G. Bernheim and nine children of Gulfport; Mr. and Mrs. Menou Arceneaux and five children of Lafayette; Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Arceneaux and seven children of New Orleans; the Helms and four children from Barksdale; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bonck and six children from New Orleans; (pikers) Jeanne and Andre with only two little ones; Mrs. Richard Gatti and three children from Park Ridge, Ill.; and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Herbert and son of the Crescent City. The only ones missing were Major and Mrs. E.J. Arceneaux, Jr., and daughters of Tacoma, Wash., and Richard Gatti of Oak Ridge, Ill.

SIGHTS AND SOUNDS ALONG THE WAY - The brilliant greenness of vegetation everywhere, due to no lack of rain, of course; a sailboat so large with sails billowing in a fashion that for a moment we wondered if per chance Columbus had been reincarnated and was going to try to dock at the Yacht Club; a white garbed nun, her face protected from the sun by a large straw hat, busily writing away while sitting on the seawall and the daily sound of rain, in drizzles, drips and just plain downpours.

perience needed to handle the live rocket when it arrives in early October. It also allows engineers to check the crane which will lift the stage and the rocket's compatibility to the test stand.

The simulator has the same weight and dimensions of the S-II liquid hydrogen rocket which is scheduled for first "hot" tests early next year on the same test stand.

The S-II, built by North American Aviation, Inc., at Seal Beach, Calif., is the second stage of the giant Saturn V Apollo moon rocket—designed to send America's first astronauts to the moon.

The simulator which was placed in the stand, like the "real" rocket, is 81 feet long and 33 feet in diameter. It was brought to the base of the test tower on the shuttle barge Pearl River and lifted into place on the stand. It weighs 75,000 pounds.

The first rocket to be tested here will be the S-II-T, a development stage now being readied in California. It will be shipped by barge from Seal Beach to Michoud Operations at New Orleans, a trip requiring 15 days, and then transferred to a river barge for the six-hour trip up the East Pearl River to MTF.

Meanwhile the population count at the test site dipped somewhat this week and the summer student employment program concluded. The total count is now 6,168 of whom 3,719 are operation and activation personnel and 2,449 construction and installation.

Student rolls top '64 peak

SCHOOL REGISTRATION
Tomorrow will be the final day for student registrations at St. Clare's School in Waveland, according to Sister Mary Ruth. Opening day is Tuesday, Sept. 7, for students in grades one through seven with kindergarten students reporting Friday, Sept. 10. The latter must be accompanied by their parents.

K OF C FAIR
The annual Knights of Columbus fair will be in full swing from 5:30 p.m. on both Saturday and Sunday and St. Stanislaus College back school grounds.

X-RAY UNIT
The mobile x-ray unit will be at the Hancock County Health Department building from 1 to 4:20 p.m. on Tuesday, and in Waveland from 8:30 a.m. to 10:50 a.m. on Wednesday.

Confirming expectations, school enrollment continues to climb and facilities at all centers are being pushed to the maximum.

Gymnasiums and auditoriums are being pressed into service for emergency classrooms as educators for both the city and county systems await construction of additional facilities.

County schools have scheduled expansion at Gulfview and Hancock North Central with a completely new structure slated for Pearlington to replace the Logtown plant. Site work has commenced on the new city high school and preliminary work begun on the additions at Waveland and Valena C. Jones.

Running 371 over last year, enrollment in city schools stands at 2,271, with 1,130 students in first to eighth grades and 597 in high school, Valena C. Jones' registration for all grades stands at 544.

Prior to the opening of the school year estimates set probable enrollment at 2,250, a figure already exceeded by 21.

Hancock North Central to date has 755 pupils with the possibility of a few more to come. Elementary enrollment accounts for 394 and high school, 361.

Gulfview (Lakeshore)

School, also in the county system, has 215 students, against 186 last year, and is using gymnasium and lunchroom space for instructional purposes until completion of their addition.

St. Joseph Academy has approximately the same enrollment as last year, 293, as has Our Lady of the Gulf School with a capacity registration of 455.

St. Clare's School in Waveland, with classes due to commence on Tuesday, is showing considerable increase with 193 names already on the books compared to 112 by this time in 1964. More are expected to register prior to the opening.

Extra holidays seen for Logtown School

Logtown School will be permitted to operate throughout the 1965-66 session provided the county board of education agrees to certain stipulations fixed by NASA's Mississippi Test Facility.

Jackson W. Balch, MTF manager, stated the test site's position in a letter dated Aug. 27 to Robert F. Ladner, county superintendent of education. MTF spokesmen said yesterday no answer had yet been received. The school board is expected to consider the matter when it meets next Tuesday.

Under the conditions set forth by Balch, NASA will not be responsible for the building if it is used during the next year. It is to be cleared prior to any static testing and before it can be re-entered, engineers designated by NASA and the school board must inspect it to determine if it is structurally sound and unharmed.

HOLIDAY GARBAGE
Because of the Labor Day holiday, Monday garbage collections in Bay St. Louis will not take place until Tuesday.

NOTE SCHOOL BUSES
With the opening of schools throughout the area, Mayor John A. Scaffie this week reminded all motorists to observe the state law which prohibits passing any school bus while it is stopped to load or unload children.

Road digging route chosen

Your street may be next! Four sewer construction crews are busy installing mains all over town and here's the schedule James Coleman, resident engineer with Owen and White, consulting engineers on the job, expects to follow in the next eight days:

Work will start today in the south part of town on Bay Oaks Drive to the Beach, up Third Street, and across Ramoneda, Gentilly Terrace and to about Carre Court. Because of the anticipated holiday weekend traffic, Beach Blvd. probably will not be torn up at this time.

at all times, where possible the engineer said. Some narrow streets such as State and St. George will not permit this. On (Cont. on Page 8-A.)

We're Growing

Dr. Charles J. Cox, MD, physician and surgeon, has announced the opening of offices for general practice at 130 Carroll Ave.

Jan's Hairdressing is now open Tuesday through Saturday on Coleman Avenue in Waveland. Operator of the new business is Jan's Hairdressing, who with Mrs. J. Williams, an employee of North American Aviation has moved here from California.

Headquarters of Hadden Hadden and Tracy's electrical contractors will occupy the building being erected on St. Louis, 90 service lane adjacent to Coastal Auto Supply. Philip Hadden, owner of the building, lives in Pass Christian Lake. James Tracy of Hadden's will operate the electrical firm.

MTF to hold open house

It'll be open house on Labor Day, Monday, at Mississippi Test Facility.

The occasion is planned primarily for employees and their families but the general public will be welcome to attend also, according to Mack Herring, public affairs chief who is in charge of the event.

The tours will begin at 10 a.m. at the central control building and signs will be posted along Rt. 45 directing persons to it. Presentations will be made on the hour every hour from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the auditorium and tour maps will be distributed directing visitors along the automobile routes.

The route will go into the Saturn V complex which has been closed for several weeks because of the danger there of high pressure gases. Herring urged visitors to stay in their automobiles except for entering the central control building and the administration building where restrooms and vending machines are located.

Orientations on the site, MTF and Project Apollo, will be given at 10 a.m., 2 and 4 p.m. At 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. the presentation will be Four Days in Space; and at 1 p.m. the feature will be Eyes on the Stars. Exhibits will be set up in the control building lobby.

Bud Antin, fullback.

Other games on the Rock-Chaw schedule are: Ben Franklin, home, Sept. 18; John Curtis, home, Sept. 24; at D'Iberville, Oct. 1; Ridgewood, home, Oct. 8; Cor Jesu, home, (homecoming), Oct. 17, at St. Bernard, Oct. 23; Van Cleave, home, Nov. 5; at Notre Dame, Nov. 12.

Thirty-seven boys, including 14 lettermen, turned out for Valena C. Jones' team and Coach Willie Bradley, after working his squad for two weeks, says everything looks good.

Co-captains Uyles Sheppard and Larry Peters head the group and their first game is at Lacombe, La., Sept. 10.

Chamber may move quarters

Investigation of new temporary quarters for the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce was launched by its board of directors at a meeting Monday night.

Ames Kargosien was appointed to study prospective sites after the board discussed expansion of activities at City Hall which is expected to force the chamber from its space there in the near future.

Lee Hayden is in charge of selection of a new permanent site being considered with long-range growth of the county in mind.

Directors were informed that during the illness of Mrs. Frank Kiefer, chamber secretary (Cont. on Page 8-A.)

supplement their training diet. "The boys are ready for battle," reported coach Lee. Bay High School's Tigers are snarling, hissing and sharpening claws with regular workouts at their stadium. Their opener is here at 8 p.m. Friday against Stone High.

Practice Monday was closely watched by out of town scouts and Coach Lance Lumpkin spared no effort to make the strangers return home with worried expressions.

Linebackers held, pass defenders covered and the offensive team dived, dodged their way through patterns organized by new assistant coach J.R. Loiseaux, Jr. Passes zoomed downfield like rockets and tackles were hard, hard, hard.

St. Stanislaus College is still working up to face their first game with Shaw at New Orleans on Sept. 11.

Coach Billy Murphy outlined his training schedule yesterday and stated his boys were in excellent shape. Two training periods per day are still being maintained and the results look well worth the effort.

Revise waterway charts and rules

The International Waterway Rules covering all of the Army Corps of Engineers' navigational waterways from Harvey Lock at New Orleans to Corvallis, Ore., have been revised by the Mississippi District of the Corps.

Twenty-one separate charts covering sections of the waterway are bound in a set which includes mileage tables and information for small craft, tugboats and barge operators using the waterway and connecting channels. Rules, signs and other data in navigation are shown together with waterway connecting channels. Water depths are indicated.

Sailing instructions will find the charts useful in the light of a change in Coast Guard regulations which become effective Sept. 1, and which are applicable to vessels operating in the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway and connecting channels. Sailing vessels no longer have the right of way over streaming channels. Barges, tugboats and other motor vessels are shown together with waterway connecting channels. Water depths are indicated.

A valuable resource for operators of powered craft using the waterway is the marking off of each mile on the highway detailed charts by the Corps of Engineers.

The large charts which can be read in poor light or in rough water conditions are prepared at a scale of 1:100,000, or one inch equals approximately 1 1/4 miles. Copies can be ordered by mail by forwarding cash, check or money order, payable to the Treasurer of the United States, for $1.50 to the Mobile District, Army Corps of Engineers, P.O. Box 1169, Mobile, Ala. 36601.
